

Angelique Jurd

LGBTQI+ AUTHOR

New Zealand author, Angelique Jurd, writes contemporary gay (MM) romance. Her stories are emotional, sexy, and loving with heart warming endings. After getting a degree in languages, travelling the world, raising a family, and working as a business journalist, she went back to school and studied English Literature and Media Studies. In 2018, she published her first novel Jesse's Smile with Small Black Cat Media. Since then, she's continued to write contemporary gay (MM) romance and her academic research in fan studies and the queerification of popular fiction characters by fans.
